“When I have a spike in production and can’t pull people from the floor for training, I have no choice but to reschedule – sometimes, two and three times. Fortunately, my contacts at CBI understand the realities of our work and jump through hoops to make things happen. Even if I have a week of classes at 3 a.m., they’re completely flexible and accommodating. It’s a quality team with programming that’s thorough, easy to understand, practical and updated regularly. We have no need to look for other providers.”
