

Roadmap for Writing Essays

Introductory Paragraph

Capture the reader's interest with

- A quote
- A fact or statistic
- A story or anecdote
- A question

As the arrow continues, so should your thoughts become more specific.

The last sentence should be the thesis, which should:

- Be debatable
- Be supported with evidence
- Say what you are going to discuss

Body Paragraphs

Idea/Topic 1

- Topic sentence
- Support, evidence, details, references
- Relate support to the thesis

Idea/Topic 2

- Transition and topic sentence
- Support, evidence, details, references
- Relate support to the thesis

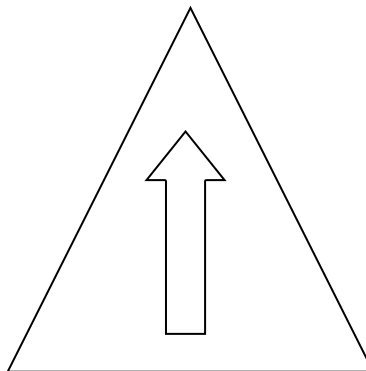

Idea/Topic 3

- Transition and topic sentence
- Support, evidence, details, references
- Relate support to the thesis

Concluding Paragraph

Broaden ideas to include a:

- Question
- Quote
- Vivid image
- Call for action

Restate the thesis.

Make broad and general statements.

What is the moral/lesson of the story?